

Testing for sprint 2: WIFINDER report

For the most part, the searching algorithm has been greatly improved with the added functionality of being able to pick and rank Wifi based on distance. No bugs were found that would greatly impact the software's current build. The only nuances so far would be on the UI and UX of the application such as:

1. One of the buttons for next being a hyperlink
2. A much needed redesign of the logo
3. A still evident lack of a completed database, though the proof of concept is shown to be working
4. A lack of a map of UPD.

While most of these will be worked on by the developers, the current build seem sto be focused on reorienting and restructuring the software's databases.
